CBM-VET PROJECT

Surpassing all expectations

The closing event of the CBM-VET project, held at the iconic Espaço Cacau in São Tomé and Príncipe, marked a milestone in maritime and fisheries vocational training in the region. With the participation of local authorities, international experts and members of the community, the meeting highlighted the progress made, from improving educational capacities to strengthening competencies in the sector. It was a space for celebration, learning and collective commitment towards a sustainable and promising future.

A platform for learning and exchange

The event not only celebrated the achievements of the CBM-VET project, but also became a space for sharing experiences and innovative ideas. Sessions addressed crucial issues such as safety in fisheries, the inclusion of women in the sector and challenges in vocational training. These discussions fostered a rich exchange of perspectives among attendees, strengthening the commitment to quality education and sustainable development in Sao Tome and Principe.

A transformative impact on the region

Thanks to the support of the European Union through the Erasmus+ programme, CBM-VET has laid the foundation for stronger maritime and fisheries education in the country. During the event, it was highlighted how this project has enhanced the capacities of local institutions and created significant opportunities for the community. Participants reaffirmed their intention to continue to support initiatives that promote the economic growth and well-being of communities dependent on the fisheries sector.

Working to improve the future

With the closure of the CBM-VET project, a new chapter in maritime and fisheries education in Sao Tome and Principe is opened. The achievements not only reflect the joint efforts of all partners, but also demonstrate the potential of international collaboration to transform communities. This project has been the beginning of a path towards sustainable development, where quality vocational training will be key to building a future full of opportunities for all.
